

Philharmonic plays Voices

The Etobicoke Philharmonic Orchestra teamed up with the Hollycrest Middle School choir for a performance of Voices of Earth, written by prize-winning Toronto composer Lothar Klein.

Klein, who is a member of the University of Toronto music department faculty, has had his compositions featured on CBC radio and performed by international orchestras.

Also featured during Friday's performance was the EPO's principal cellist Karen Henderson, who played the Saint-Saens Cello Concerto -1.

The orchestra, under the baton of Music Director Tak Ng Lai, also played the Overture to Egmont, by Beethoven and the Schumann Symphony -1 (Spring).

Members of the Martingrove Collegiate Auditorium audience were offered a chance to enter a draw for several prizes.

Mayor Bruce Sinclair has agreed to draw the winning ticket (April 5 in his office at City Hall) for a signed print by Ontario landscape artist William Micaud.
